

Enlisted Men Give $1,000 to Cancer Society

The enlisted men of the U.S.S. Washington, fired a personal broadside against a personal enemy—cancer. A money order in the sum of $1,000 was received by the American Cancer Society, Empire State Building, New York city, made up entirely of donations from the enlisted men, for the cancer fund. This is really taking time out from an ever busy day to increase their defense for their homes and loved ones.

Accompanying the money order was the following letter to the American Cancer Society:

Dear Sirs: Enclosed you will find one thousand dollars in money orders which we, the enlisted men of the U.S.S. Washington wish to donate to your cancer fund.

We understand clearly and appreciate fully the value of the work you are doing because we have been working against a force of the same insidious character for quite some time. We are a bit more fortunate, however, since the cancer we are concerned with is now in the open. We have it half cut out. We wish you the same luck, we remain,

Yours in health,
THE ENLISTED MEN OF THE U.S.S. WASHINGTON
per William Fagen and Francis Crotty

By an Act of Congress, April is Cancer Control Month, and the campaign to raise funds to help conquer cancer under the chairmanship of Eric Johnston, will begin their drive in every state, April 1.

Mr. Johnston said, "We take off our hats to men who are carrying on two battles, one for military defense of the country, and secondly for the defense of their homes and their loved ones in the battle of health."

"The U.S.S. Washington has set a mark for the rest of the fleet to shoot at. This contribution by these fighting men at the front has made me realize more and more that we back home certainly can find the time and effort for so worthy a cause. This is also a war against one of man's greatest enemies—Cancer."

GARDINER

Gardiner, March 1—Reformed Church—Sunday school at 10 o'clock. All parents are urged to send their children to Sunday school. Classes for all ages. Church service begins at 11 o'clock. The sermon of the morning will be the first of a series concerning Christ's last week on earth before His death. It is entitled, "The Denial of Christ." Youth Fellowship meets on Wednesday night in the church hall. During this week and next the fifth issue of the Yankee Folio, a news sheet for service personnel from Gardiner and vicinity will be sent out. Any news items and events of interest should be handed to members of the Youth Fellowship together with any changes of address so that corrections may be made before the paper is sent out. The cooperation of all is appreciated.

The Ladies' Aid in the Reformed Church will meet in the home of Mrs. Hans Andersen on Wednesday, March 7 at 10 o'clock. A business meeting will be held in the morning at which the election of officers will take place. A covered dish luncheon will be served. By JAMES LINDSLEY

A 4th Division Command Post, Iwo, (AP)—We were sitting in a heavily concreted blockhouse which had been a Japanese anti-aircraft emplacement. It was stuffy and dirty and if you weren't careful you would hang your head on the ceiling. But the roof was sandbagged and gave a reasonable amount of security.

It was the temporary home of jovial Capt. John S. Rogers, Arlington, Va., 4th Division assistant personnel officer.

It's Rogers' job to keep a roster of casualties and it is his custom on each operation to throw a party for his friends as soon as conditions cool off sufficiently. That's what he was doing this evening. "This is my hottest operation," said Rogers, "but I'm still clinging to my original ambition." "Go ahead and tell 'em," wearily said Capt. E. E. Harding of 53 Patton avenue, Hempstead, N. Y., "maybe there is someone here who hasn't heard about your ambition."

"My ambition," said Rogers undeterred by the lack of enthusiasm, "is to live to be 99 and to be arrested in a vice raid."

"Would you want to live to be 99 if you had to do it on this double blank island," asked Lieut. Henry Stephens of Grosse Pointe, Mich.

"Frankly no," Rogers replied. "I love life, but not that much. This place is even worse than Los Angeles," (that was aimed at me).

Then there was a heavy shell burst. The dugout shook and dirt showered down.

"That's the sort of thing I mean," Rogers said. "It's that sort of thing that makes the Japs unpopular. I can't even throw a little party for a few friends without them starting to shoot at us."

A few moments later a non-com came in and handed Rogers a slip of paper. He inspected it and made an entry in the register.

It was the name of a marine the shellburst had just killed.

LONELY?
You'll never know...

IT'S the waiting that gets you down. It's the long days, and the longer nights, when you lie there thinking... will you ever get home again? ... why don't they write more often ... did Dad ever get over that heart trouble ... is your best girl still waiting ... will you ever get a job again ...

Sometimes, when the mail is slow, you get to imagining things. Black, terrible things that begin to seem real. And then, something saves you.

Like the day the Red Cross field man got a rush cable report from home, telling you your Dad was getting well.

And the time some Red Cross girls came up in a jeep, handing out doughnuts and coffee and million-dollar American smiles. And you all started to laugh and kid, the way you used to at home.

There was the time you wanted to forget it was Christmas. And the Red Cross girl at the club made you trim a palm leaf Christmas tree, and you all had presents and sang the old carols, out there in the hot tropic night.

Maybe it doesn't sound like much. The Red Cross does a lot of bigger things ... such as collecting blood plasma for the wounded ... sending food packages to prisoners of war ... clothes for bombed-out kids.

But to us, home seems just a little nearer, because your Red Cross is with us.

Americans: To keep at the side of your fighting men, your Red Cross must have funds. Contributions from you are the only source of income. Millions of our men are still far from home. They need your Red Cross ... they must have it.

Keep your

WEDDING INVITATIONS SENT WITH FULL POSTAGE

A reader asks: "What is the opinion today of sending wedding invitations in unsealed envelopes with only half postage? As we had moved from our former address, such an invitation had to be held for postage due and by the time it was forwarded, the wedding day was past."

Half postage always has been considered shoddy and will be until there is a shortage in postage stamps. Also, as you have pointed out, the slowness in forwarding third class mail can cause great inconvenience. The only change that has been made is that shortage of paper is now exacting that invitations to weddings be enclosed in a single envelope instead of two as always has been correct.

Children Visitors

Dear Mrs. Post: I hope you may be able to help in what is becoming a trying situation in our neighborhood. It is the practice of young mothers taking their children to call where there are no children and no toys to amuse them. After watching the child play recklessly with the radio, ash trays, vases and books, I am not in the mood to ask them to come again. It seems to be a general practice with the mothers to let their children do in other homes what they would not tolerate in their own.

Answer: If children are often brought to your house, it may be a good idea to supply a few simple toys from the dime store to amuse them. A child will play quite a long time with almost any new toy. When he gets tired of it, exchange it for another.

The Problem of Returning a Present

Dear Mrs. Post: Several months ago my club gave me a bridal shower. Since then I have broken my engagement but I have done nothing about returning these presents because, frankly, I didn't know what to do. In several instances, two or three girls together gave me one gift. I thought possibly I could offer to buy these presents as they are all personal items which I could use. It certainly would be easier for them to divide the money than the present.

Answer: Since shower presents are always given by intimate friends, it should not be difficult to ask those who together contributed to one present, whether they would prefer to return the present and divide the amount of the rebate or whether one might like to buy the others out and keep it. In other words, I don't see what you can do except find out what they want you to do.

Your wedding can be the "perfect wedding" you've always hoped for if you make thorough, careful plans for it. Mrs. Post's booklet No. 501, "The Etiquette of Weddings," is a complete guide which covers every detail of wedding—big or little. To obtain your copy for consultation, send 10 cents in coin and a three-cent stamp to Mrs. Post, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 18, N. Y. Sculpture Award Winners

Boston, Feb. 28.—Winning designs for murals, statuary menus and plates, submitted by the student body of The School of The Museum of Fine Arts, this city, were selected this afternoon at the U.S.S. Bostonian, 1138 Boylston street, a residential club for merchant seamen operated by the United Seamen's Service. These designs will be used in redecorating and refurbishing the canteen of this hostelry.

The sculpture prizes were won by Miss Barbara Ames of Fitchburg, Mass., and Miss Alice Dunbar of Hurley, the former capturing the coveted first prize and the latter second honors. The designs were prepared under the supervision of Russell T. Smith, director of the school, and were selected by popular ballot by the seamen visiting the club.

Hamilton Goes Out In Front 2 Strokes At Jacksonville

By WILLIAM GOBER, JR.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 2 (AP)—Big Bob Hamilton of Chicago, P.G.A. National champion, was out in front two strokes today as the $5,000 Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament moved into the second round.

The free-swinging pro, who will be inducted for military service soon, breezed over the Brentwood course with nine birdies for a 65 in the opener yesterday, shattering the record of 66 set nearly 20 years ago by Johnny Farrell.

Two strokes back of Hamilton in second place were Craig Wood of Mamaronock, N. Y., duration Open champion, and Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Sanford, Me. Tied for third position at 68 were Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., the winter circuit's top money winner, and Bruce Coltart of Absecon, N. J. Slammin' Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., heavy favorite because of his sizzling warmup rounds, faltered slightly in carding a fourth-place 69.

Wind Spills Shots
A stiff and tricky wind swept over Brentwood's flat stretches and spoiled many a well-hit shot. Winter rules are in effect here, allowing contestants to improve their lies in the fairways which are ragged in spots.

Eighteen players out of the hundred entered managed to crack par 72 in the initial round. Eighteen holes are slated for today and tomorrow, with the finals Sunday.

With only one stroke separating them, a tooth-and-nail duel is expected during succeeding rounds between Nelson and Snead. Lord Byron is ahead of the Virginia mountaineer in seasonal war bond winnings, but Snead has won five winter championships compared to his rival's four.

Many More Are Expected to Enter Before Closing Time, Saturday Midnight

Saturday midnight is the closing time for entries in the second annual Central Recreation 100 per cent handicap bowling tournament.

"We have 55 teams signed to compete," said John Ferraro, one of the alley proprietors, as he predicted a tight race for the honors. Representative clubs from Kingston and surrounding communities make up the list of leagues out after the attractive prizes.

Some of the communities so far represented are Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Ellenville, Walden, Liberty, Tilton, Margaretville. "We figure that other teams from out of town will come in," said Ferraro, "and that clubs from the various Kingston leagues—Major, Electrol and Hercules—will also enter, making a total of 80 or more outfits."

Approximately $400 in prize money will be up for the league spotters to shoot at and this is expected to produce some high class bowling for the spectators to enjoy.

"That 100 per cent handicap puts every team on an equal footing," Ferraro remarked, "and this is the reason that clubs from all over the section are attracted to it." He added, "Positively no entries will be accepted after Saturday midnight."

Local Guardsmen Are Congratulated After Inspection

After they inspected the Kingston units of the New York State Guard at the armory on Albany avenue Thursday evening, Major J. J. Sullivan and Captain William J. Woods of the U. S. Army, who made the inspection, congratulated the men on their excellent work.

Major Sullivan stressed the importance of Guard training for men who will become members of the federal forces. He urged each man to learn well all that is taught.

The inspecting officer also complimented the older men of the Guard, many of whom had already seen service, for their patriotic spirit in giving their time to help the younger men.

Company A is at full strength of 74 enlisted men and four officers. Company B has 94 men and four officers, or 20 over the usual strength. In Headquarters Detachment there are eight enlisted men and four officers.

It was pointed out that the large number of men in Company B is due to recruiting 20 men from Saugerties for the "Saugerties Platoon."

Major Sullivan said that while it is not customary to authorize such an increase as shown in Company B, it was permitted due to the fact that the regiment as a whole is undermanned. No other unit in the regiment had this number of men in its ranks.

Curfew Is Not New, so Byrnes Has Precedent

New York, March 2 (AP)—There's nothing new under the sun—or about the curfew at night either because, after all, that "request" to take up the sidewalks at midnight is about 1,000 years old.

War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes possibly got his idea for a nightly curfew of pleasure from King Alfred the Great, who made his subjects extinguish their house fires during the shank of the evening.

Or maybe Byrnes modified the proclamation of Gov. William Kieft of New York, who in 1638 decided 9 p. m. was late enough for a nightcap.

Ever since the curfew bell tolled for Alfred, similar restrictions have been imposed from time to time. William the Conqueror mixed piety with police when he told the British that they should observe Alfred's curfew by going indoors and offering prayers—or else.

The curfew was an accepted thing throughout Europe during the middle ages. In medieval Venice only the barbers' quarter was exempt—the barbers were on call as surgeons.

As late as 1848 a curfew law still was applied in various parts of England. The English applied a coal-saving curfew during World War I, when restaurants extinguished lights at 10 p. m. and theatre lights went out at 10:30 p. m.

In 1918 New York had a 1 a. m. closing time—but the number of night spots has multiplied since then.

Farmington, Conn., began a curfew in 1652 and still has a curfew fund. Through the years the city fathers tolled their bell 28 times each night, just for tradition's sake.

But now they aren't kidding. The east Prussian city of Königsberg is spread out along the banks of the Pregel river.

Nelson May Leave New Deal Post

Former W.P.B. Chief May Go to Private Business

Washington, March 2 (AP)—The working partnership between Donald M. Nelson and the New Deal may dissolve shortly.

Friends of the former War Production Board chairman today confirmed reports that he plans to resign soon as personal representative to President Roosevelt on international economic matters.

Nelson, who was called "the New Deal's favorite businessman" in depression days and then took leadership in mobilizing industry for war, was reported to feel that his present White House duties are too light to warrant his remaining in the government.

Although he sits with the cabinet, Nelson has not been called upon to fill the "businessman-ambassador" role since his return from China, where he organized a Chinese W.P.B.

The former executive vice president of Sears Roebuck and Company reportedly plans to re-enter private industry. He is said to have received a number of business offers since quitting the W.P.B. post last September after long simmering strife within the agency.

LaGuardia Plays

Moss on Play Closing

New York, March 2 (AP)—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia has come to the assistance of his embattled license commissioner, Paul Moss, in the controversy over the forced closing of the play, "Trio."

LaGuardia said yesterday he would assume "full responsibility" for Moss' action in refusing to grant the Belasco Theatre a change of license unless the play was closed. Moss said he had received complaints that the play was "lewd, lascivious and immoral."

"I do not intend to remove Commissioner Moss," LaGuardia said in a letter to Russell Crouse, president of the Authors League of America, Inc. "He has committed no wrong."

Crouse, as well as a number of theatrical groups, had demanded Moss' ouster. They claimed the ban constituted censorship.

Red Cross War Fund Card Party At Union Center

Mrs. Theodor Oxholm, chairman of the Red Cross War Fund campaign in the town of Esopus, received a generous contribution on the opening day of the campaign from the Women's Auxiliary, School District 4. This contribution was raised by a card party given last night at the Ulster Park Grange Hall.

Before passing the basket for the silver collection which was taken up, Mrs. Oxholm was called upon to say a few words about the Red Cross. In her talk, Mrs. Oxholm told the large group assembled of the many branches of Red Cross work, stressing particularly the wonderful work being done in the European and Pacific theatre of war. Mrs. Oxholm told her listeners about the numerous expressions of gratitude being received constantly for the inspiring job done in the Philippines. Now that so many of these prisoners have been liberated, we are learning of their appreciation, first hand. In closing her remarks, Mrs. Oxholm said she knew she didn't have to urge those present to be generous for such a worthy cause—they always were.

The hall was decorated with Red Cross flags and posters. The Red Cross cake, made and donated by George Villhelm, went to Master Thomas Raftery. Many articles were auctioned to swell the funds by A. V. Schoonmaker. During the serving of the traditional doughnuts and coffee, Mrs. John Zur Nieden, president of the Union Center Women's Auxiliary, presented the contribution to Mrs. Oxholm, who thanked all present for their generosity.

Those serving on the committee, who were responsible for this delightful evening included Mrs. John Zur Nieden, Mrs. Walter Danford, Mrs. G. Berger, Mrs. A. V. Schoonmaker, Mrs. William Raftery, Mrs. E. Saqui, Mrs. C. Raftery, Mrs. F. Sukor, and Mrs. George M. Hard.
